“ I've known Allen for almost as long as I've known my husband Frank. He introduced me even way before Frank and I were married. I remember playing all kinds of games that evening at his house, like Twister and we even made up spooky stories like a bunch of kids. Had so much fun that evening. Allen was Frank's best friend and those two had a bond that will never die. Even though Allen has went to his forever home in Heaven, that friendship will always continue. The last time we saw Allen was just a little over a week before he passed away and they shared boyhood memories from where they grew up in Irving and Allen and Frank made us all laugh. Niece Paul and her husband Dan were also there that day, Allen told Frank he was turning his life over to Jesus. The happiest day in his life and ours, especially Frank's to know that he and Allen will continue their antics in Heaven. Jill, Allen, Paula, Dan and Frank and I all took Communion together and it was more special than I ever remember. You were a wonderful husband to Jill and father to Adam and I know you loved them so very much. God bless you Allen Zupanci for being such a wonderful friend to Frank, and accepting me and my children into your family as well. We'll never forget you dear friend and I KNOW we will all see you again some day.....Terry Lynn Loskot
