“ I can't believe I'm even writing this right now... I'm so sorry for everyone's loss. My aunt krissy was a beautiful, sweet, sometimes crazy but always loving aunt. When all of us girls finally made it to high school, and got to leave campus for lunch, we would make the walk to uncle Louie's house and sure enough, every day, aunt krissy would have a huge plate of grilled cheese and chips ready for us!! I loved that. But I think my most favored memory of her that I'll never forget was, when I was 9 and I started my period at grandmas house for the first time. I was scared so I told aunt krissy first bc she was my favorite and I talked to her about everything, so her being the fun aunt, instead of telling me what to do, she embarrassed the crap out of me skipping through the house singing Kelsie needs a tampon.... So everyone in the world knew what had happened 😭 I'm really going to miss her!!! I always have and always will think of her every time I see a dragon statue or Shania Twain lol!! I can't believe this is happening.. RIP Aunt Krissy I love you!!!! Megan, Erica, Josie, and Luke I'm sooo sorry for you loss and I love and miss yall so much!!!
