“ I remember the first time me and my nana went on the airplane. We were going to Florida. When we we're going there was someone in the seat by the window. She knew I wanted the window seat and asked him to move so I could. He moved and I got the window. She did that just so I could have what I wanted. She never wanted me to have to want anything. She always gave me what I wanted. I never wanted to believe I was spoiled but I most certainly was. -Olivia Reno
